INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY REPORT ON PATENTABILITY (SEPARATE SHEET)

International application No.

PCT/BE2005/000009

Re Item I:

The deletion of "whereby channels are provided in the housing according to two cross directions, between the above-mentioned channels and the above-mentioned back wall," introduces subject-matter which extends beyond the content of the application as filed, contrary to Article 34(2)(b) PCT.

Re Item V:

- 1. Closest prior art is document US-A-5268011 (D2). The subject-matter of single independent claim 1 differs from D2 mainly in that an opening in the bottom of the housing of the heat exchanger is provided downstream of the means for separating condensate from the cooled gas, which opening is in connection via a collector with the openings that are provided in the bottom for the discharge of the separated condensate from the vertical gutters of the means for separating condensate.
- 2. It is believed that the technical effect achieved by this difference might be seen in the fact that the apparatus can be used with higher flow rates of the air to be treated.
- 3. The problem of providing an apparatus which allows higher air speed has been solved in a non obvious way.
 The available prior art documents neither disclose nor suggest the solution as claimed: D1 (FR-A-2181469) does not disclose the collector for condensate below the bottom of the housing, onto which a discharge pipe is connected.
- 4. The subject-matter of claim 1 and thus of dependent claims 2-10 is new and inventive. The application meets the requirements of Article 33(1) PCT.
